LOCAL CLUB MAY JOIN LARGER ORGANIZATION

If an invitation extended to the Progressive Business Club of Pendleton is accepted that club will affiliate with the Exchange Clubs and thereafter be known as the Exchange Club. A merger has been arranged whereby the Progressive Business Club, located in the west are to enter the Exchange Club national organization. Sixteen of the Progressive Club have taken this action and the matter of acting on the subject will be up to the membership of the local organization at its next meeting, Tuesday noon.

The Exchange Clubs are luncheon clubs and exist principally in the middle states and the east. There is a total membership of approximately 15,000 and many influential men, including President Harding and his erstwhile opponent for the presidency, Governor Cox of Ohio. The Exchange Clubs do not use paid organizers and follow the motto "Unity of Service."

The first club was organized many years ago in Detroit, Michigan. Mr. Harter was the chief speaker at a special dinner held by the Progressives in the Elks club. The meeting was the first held by the Progressive Club since the adjournment for vacation two months ago. G. M. Rice, president of the club, presided and a large membership was in attendance. It was decided last evening to invite the Rotary club to a dinner to be held some time in October.

PROTEST HUNTING GROUND EXTENSIONS

NIKKO, Japan, Sept. 8.—The people of this city of shrimps and Imperial palaces have entered a protest against the proposed extension of the Imperial hunting grounds not far distant from here. The objection is based on the allegation that the extension of the hunting grounds would cause a serious loss to agriculture which already suffers from the hunters overrunning the fields. A mass meeting appointed a committee to proceed to Tokyo to protest to the Imperial household. This in bygone years might have been considered less unjust.

Charges of Coates Denied by Slusher In Answer to Case

Defendant in $40,000 Damage
Suit Says Coates Family
Not Happy; Asks for Costs.

A sweeping denial to the charges made by W. F. Coates in his damage suit for $40,000, recently instituted in circuit court against Alvah Slusher, is contained in the answer to the complaint which was filed in court yesterday by Slusher's attorneys.

The defendant, in his answer, sets forth a denial that Coates and his wife lived happily together until the date mentioned in the complaint when Slusher is said to have entered into the affairs of the family.

He also denies that he induced or persuaded Mrs. Coates to associate with him against the wishes of the plaintiff either at the Slusher farm, at the defendant's home, or in the Coates home. He also denies that he persuaded the wife of the plaintiff to drink intoxicating liquors with him.

In the conclusion of the answer it is asked by the defendant that Coates be granted no judgment against Slusher and that he be compelled to pay the defendant's costs in the case.

FORMATION OF ONE CITY IS AMBITION OF EAST END TOWNS

Milton - Freewater Citizens
Start Move to Consolidate
Two Places at Early Date.

The towns of Milton and Freewater had a happy accident last night, as a result of a joint meeting a definite movement was enthusiastically launched to unite the two municipal corporations in one body.

The banquet and meeting, held in the Milton city library, was called for the ostensible purpose of discussing ways and means of securing the whole-hearted co-operation of all of the residents of the east end of the county in making the East End Apple Show a success.

Two committees consisting of three men from each city were appointed. These committees are to hold a conference Monday night when the business of solidifying the towns will be further discussed. The personnel of the committees is as follows: For Milton, S. D. Peterson, Clyde Cheshire and S. A. Miller; for Freewater, H. S. Murray, R. H. Van Slyke and R. E. Bean.

The move to unite the two city governments under one head was spontaneous, boosters of both towns declared today. The east end takes a great pride in the quality of its apples, and the business and meeting was called to make plans for this show. The proposal to make only one town where for many years there have been two was put forward, and for quite a while this subject was the topic of chief consideration.

Sentiment against the present status of affairs has been gradually forming for several years, east end residents declare, and the proposal made last night fell on fertile soil. The common interest in the apple show, the mutual pride in the quality of its apples in the new high school which is in the center of the community, and other factors caused the proposal to meet with instant approval.

The consolidation of the two towns is also considered a good piece of business from an economical point of view. At present the fire protection afforded residents is said to be less effective than many people desire. It is thought, also, that by consolidating, free city delivery of mail may be secured.

A material reduction in the cost of municipal government is also anticipated by residents of the two towns. Much of the present duplication that exists could be eliminated, it is thought, at a real saving to the taxpayers.

The names of five per cent of the voters of each town will have to be secured on a petition to submit the question to the electorate on the ballot in November's election, and it is probable that such petitions may be circulated within the near future, it is said.

The exact date for holding the apple show was not set last night's meeting, but the co-operation of both communities to see that it is a success was pledged. An expression of enthusiastic endorsement for uniting the towns was secured from every person in attendance, according to R. E. Bean, county commissioner, who was present.

The move on the part of the twin towns in the east end to set their faces toward each other and forget the difficulties of other days received enthusiastic commendation from Pendleton residents, according to newspaper expressed on every hand here today.

FIEND BRUTALLY ATTACKED FAMILY NEAR OLYMPIA

Three of Seven Victims Were Fatally Injured by Blow on Head With Revolver.

POSSE FIND NO TRACE OF FIEND OR MANIAC

Family Teased and Tortured for Four Hours During Night, Then Escaped.

OLYMPIA, Sept. 8.—(I. N. S.)—A posse is searching for the fiend or maniac who last night assaulted and brutally beat Mrs. Harry O'Hara, widow, her four daughters, one son and Joe Dobson, young neighbor, probably fatally injuring three of his seven victims. The man held up Teresa O'Hara, 29, and Dobson, 21, as they returned to the O'Hara home, eight miles west of the city, from Olympia. At the point of a gun he compelled the girl to tie Dobson, then marched them into the O'Hara home and to the bedrooms, where Agnes, 22, Frances, 16, Eva, 12, and Joe, 14, were in bed. He forced Teresa to tie her mother and sisters and then he tied Teresa with strips torn from the sheets.

Demanding money, he received a small amount. He then attempted to assault Teresa, but she fought desperately and he turned his attention to 12 year old Eva, whom he violated by sheer strength. From then 11 o'clock, until 3 this morning, the fiend teased and tortured his victims, and just before leaving the house struck each over the head with the butt of his revolver, rendering them unconscious. Mrs. O'Hara and Eva received fractured skulls and Frances is barely alive from her wounds.

Teresa, the first to recover consciousness, struggled out of the house, went to the home of a neighbor and gave an alarm. The posse which went from Olympia, found all the victims except Teresa lying in beds, or on the floor in pools of their own blood. The fiend's head was beaten to a pulp. No hope is held for his recovery.

So far the posse has found no trace of the fiend, who had two hours' start.

Following are the quotations received by Overbeck & Cooke, local brokers:

Sterling, 445 7-8.
Marks, 7 3-8.
France, 7 1-4.
Italy, 4 3-4.
Government crop report as of September 1st:

Spring wheat condition, 80.1; production, 237,000,000.
Winter production, 542,000,000.
Corn condition 75.8; production 2,375,000,000.

Total crop wheat, 119,000,000.
Oats condition, 74.2; production 1,255,000,000.

Wheat—Started higher on Liverpool cables, and held strong until the last hour, when selling by holders pending publication of the government report proved too much for the demand and carried prices back to last night's figures. Rumors were current of a good export business being done in a quiet way, and although the seaboard contended the demand for cash wheat was considered insignificant, a net of 500,000 bushels were made out of Chicago alone. Minneapolis reported a good demand from the milling interests at firm prices. Flour trade continues very good. The government report is expected to show a considerable increase in the spring wheat yields, with the cash situation showing strength, we don't think the short side of the market based on prospective large supplies will prove profitable at present.

JANE BURNS ALBERT TO BE SOPRANO SOLOIST FOR HAPPY CANYON PROGRAMS

Jane Burns Albert, soprano, Tom Ordeman, baritone, and the "One-Two-Three-Four" quartet, "barber shop melody," are the three big attractions in the way of vocal music which Happy Canyon fans will get to hear this year. Arrangements for bringing the two soloists and the quartet here were concluded by Bert Jerard in Portland during a visit from which he returned this morning.

Miss Burns is an opera star and is in great demand all over the west as a soloist, according to Jerard. She is a western girl, a good horsewoman, and has a pleasing personality.

"Portland is coming to the show in greater numbers than ever before, it seems to me," was Jerard's comment today. "The Rotary club gave the show a boost Tuesday, and yesterday at the meeting of the 100 per cent club, we got more mention. There will be two big special trains from Portland, the 1925 Special and the Oregon Journal Special."

PRICE OF COAL HERE TAKES RISE OF $1.50 TON DURING THIS WEEK

Higher Cost at Mines Cause of Resuming Old Charge, Dealers Say; Supply Not Normal

Mr. and Mrs. Consumer in Pendleton will now step up to the counter and start paying for the coal strike.

The battle which has been raging all summer has cost money, and naturally, a nice wad of this cost is to be tacked onto the bill of the last man to buy. The result is that coal has gone up $1.50 the ton in Pendleton this week, which places it back at $11.50 the figure which was paid last year before the reduction in coal freight rates.

"We're paying the highest price right now for coal that we have ever paid," one local dealer said this morning. "There is no absolute assurance that the market will hold where it is now. It may go higher. We're hoping it won't, but the added cost has been placed on the commodity at the mine. That's why we must increase our charges."

Receipts are fairly good, now, dealers declare, but the stocks of coal are not fat. One firm is about 1,000 tons behind on orders, and all of the dealers interviewed declared that they are behind with no definite prospects of when supply will catch up with demand.

Some of the reasons given for the necessity of the operators increasing the mine price are shortage of freight cars, the mines are not running full time, or those that do not have a full quota of miners. The protection that must be given men who are taking the places of strikers is an item of expense. The present wage scale is also high, the dealers declare. This combination is largely responsible for the higher costs, according to the statements of Pendleton agents for coal.

LITTLE HOPE IS HELD FOR ENTOMBED MINERS

JACKSON, Cal., Sept. 8.—(U. P.)—The outlook of rescuing the entombed miners was darker today as dense masses of poisonous gas were coming from the Argonaut shaft. Peter Akers, shaft boss, declares the "signal blasts" resulted from explosions set off by the fire in powder left in the mine. It will be four days before the rescuers reach the Argonaut shaft.

IMMENSE AIRSHIP SERVICE PLANNED

SYDNEY, N. S. W., Sept. 8.—(A. P.)—A new proposal for the establishment of an airship service between Great Britain and Australia has been placed before Premier Hughes by Sir Keith Smith, who, with his brother, the late Sir Ross Smith, flew from England to Australia.

The premier said that a private company was prepared to furnish the capital, provided that a reasonable interest was guaranteed by the different parts of the Empire. He said he understood that the Australian quota would be $6,000 pounds annually, while the previous proposition had involved a very much larger expenditure.

Sir Keith said that the project involved the employment of airships now idle in England and the institution of service through Egypt and India to Australia. Premier Hughes said he would by the matter before parliament.

to Deny Rumors That Peace
Agreements Are Being Made

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 8.—(U. P.)—Samuel Gompers is planning today to put the question of a general strike in motion to the Daugherty injunction before the executive council of the American Federation of Labor meeting here.

Gompers said the demand for a sympathetic strike was becoming more insistent. Several unions adopted resolutions demanding a general strike and hundreds of others are on record as favoring the movement. Gompers declared: "I will place the matter before the council and we will act in accordance with our conscience not with fear of the attorney general. The council is unimpaired to call a strike but its recommendations are almost mandatory."

Peace Rumors
CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—(U. P.)—Leaders of the new rail peace movement are expected to confer today. President Daniel Willard, of the Baltimore and Ohio, arrived secretly and went into conference with western executives. Bert M. Jewell is expected to emerge from retirement to confer with Willard.

Willard has been the leader of the individual arrangement movement since early in the strike. He conferred today with the president of the Chicago and Northwestern, Burlington, Rock Island, Milwaukee, and Northern Pacific. Despite the persistent rumors, rail executives continue to deny entering an agreement. Presidents A. M. Smith, N. Y. Central, Donnelly of the Northern Pacific, Carl Gray of the Union Pacific, Hale Holden, Burlington and Vice President A. J. Weller, of the Santa Fe, all deny that they are represented at any conference and had no knowledge of the alleged terms of settlement.

Jewell Served Notice
